

Slain Mother's Memory Kept Alive in Nightly Vigils

Aug 11, 2009

TRACY, CA - For three consecutive nights, friends, family and neighbors of Cynthia Ramos came from Tracy and beyond to light candles in memory of the 58-year-old mother of six.

Although the numbers have dwindled each night since they started on Saturday, there were still well over 50 people at Monday night's vigil.

Ramos' roommate found her body Aug. 6 inside her trailer at the Green Oaks Mobile Home Park.

A short time later, Tracy police took two men into custody on suspicion of murder. Tracy police said the men are both residents of the same community where Ramos lived.

Because Robert Morgan, 39, and Jorge Morgan, 24, won't be arraigned until Tuesday, Ramos' eldest daughter, Christina Branche of Sacramento, said very little to News10. But she did provide a written statement:

"At the risk of jeopardizing the case against the suspects, family does not want to discuss any part of the case. We do however fully intend (to give) our full cooperation (to) legal authorities, and pursue justice honoring our mother's memory."

Dear Grandma, (Much Love for Kim and Angie.)

Much Love for my friend Angie Maravilla, because of her I got to meet you, a wonderful women, whom I even called grandma... She always let me in her home and you gave me comfort when I didn't speak to my patents. I still remember the first day Angie introduced me to Cindy and Poopy her horse (its really a dog) inside joke.

Cindy thanks you for being a friend to me thank you for all the support and advice you gave to me. You were my only friend when I lived in Tracy... I enjoyed listening to oldies and watching Medea with you. Cindy thanks for the couple of times I had nowhere to go you let me stay with you and you even picked me up in the middle of no where. Do remember when I hated that poppy's hair got all over me? Lol. You showed much me love, so with love I say, "Grandma I miss you"

P.S. Grandma remember the Barbeque at your house, Junior (cheyo) also misses you he says hello. He was also very hurt to hear what happened to you, He remembers you called us recently we spoke with you and now he doesn't believe it.

That was a very emotional tribute to your mom. I know exactly what you're going through because I lost my mom on June 1 of this year. It's still hard. Little things you do will remind you of her. I understand she had six children. My mom had 5 and I'm the oldest. You have to be strong for one another and know that she's in a better place, as you already do. Keep your head up and God in your heart. Remember to love one another.

Livai, what a loving tribute to your Mom. May she live in your heart and mind forever. Be well, remember the good times and the bad, for they make up who we are and who our dearly departed loved ones were.

go. And just because you're gone, just talk to me. I will still bug you because I call your name all day everyday. But now I can't win any more. I can't wake you up, because you're already up. But now you're the winner. Because although you would try to wake me up, you only got me a few times. And when you got me good, I would pretend like I was up for hours. But now, mom, you are the winner. I wake up and call for you. And I hear you calling for me. You get me now. And I get you..Mom, you are my Hero. You have always been here for me. And just know that I will call on you in my times of need. And I know you so much that I know you will answer. I just want to tell you thank you mom and that I love you so much.

Love always,

Your #1 favorite Child,

Feleti "Fred" Livai

Mom,

I just want to talk to you. I miss you so much and love you with all my heart. You are my world and mean everything to me. And now that they took you from me, they killed my very being. I don't know how to go on or what I'm doing. I just daze off at times not knowing what I'm doing but deep in thoughts about you. My mother. You are my life. Past, future and present I will hold you in my heart. You will never leave me. You are here with me mom and always have been. I love you so much for that. You were always so loyal to me. You've taught me that and I'm so thankful for you. Out of all the people in the world, I am so proud that you were the woman I called mom. I still will talk to you. And I know you hear me. I still call your name and ask, "What are you doing?" Well mom, I want to know now, "What are you doing?" I know you are so happy now. Don't worry about us. We're going to be ok. I know how much you wanted to be with Grandma & Grandpa. You just told me that recently and now you are up in heaven with them and so many others. Tell them all I said hi and I'll be home when Our Heavenly Father calls me home. You are so loved mom and I am so proud of you. You are my life mom and it's so hard not having you here with me. But just because you're gone in the physical, your life and memory lives within me. And I will make sure to teach my kids all the life long lessons that you've taught me. You did so good raising us kids. A single mother and always made it happen. No matter what. I remember you used to always say, "We may be poor and not have much, but we're probably the fattest poor people you've ever met." Mom, you are a saint and you are my idol. You have so much love and support that fills my heart from family, friends and even strangers from all around. You are my inspiration and I swear, I'm so proud that I want to be just like you.

Mom, I want to tell you THANK YOU for being the woman you are. You live in me and I won't let
